Ahoghill hosts 'Triangle' Twelfth

Sixteen lodges will take part in the 'Triangle' Twelfth of July parade which will be held this year in Ahoghill. A total of 16 lodges will come from the Districts of Portglenone, Ahoghill and Cullybackey to take part, with nine bands and seven sets of Lambeg Drums with fifes adding to the spectacle.

The main parade will move off at 12.30pm from Killane Road following a route via Galgorm Road, Ballymena Road, Main Street, The Diamond, Church Street, (Return down Church Street), The Diamond, Cullybackey Road, Cullybackey Road Link, to the demonstration field at the Ahoghill Community Centre. The host District of Ahoghill will lead the parade. As each of the seven lodges takes their turn to lead the district each year, it is the turn of Patrick's Chosen Few LOL No. 414 with their lambeg drums and fifes. Orangewomen on parade will be Ahoghill WLOL No. 5 who will accompany Ahoghill LOL No. 653 who will be led by Ahoghill Loyal Sons of William Flute Band. As always, the emphasis is very much on family with food and entertainment for children, including inflatables, have been arranged in the field. The Platform will commence as soon as the last lodge has entered the field. Up first will be a variety of music, incorporating the Ulster Scots tradition. This will be followed by the traditional religious service where the main speaker will be Bro. Joseph Kennoway from the Belfast City Mission based at Ballybeen. The Lambeg Drumming

Tattoo will follow the platform and involve all the Lambeg Drums and fifes that were on Parade. Although one of the smaller Twelfth demonstrations, it will feature a good mix of bands, including pipe, accordion, flute and of course, Lambeg drums! The return parade will get underway at 3.50pm.

Ahoghill will host the 'Triangle' Twelfth this year. Part of the entertainment on the day will be a Lambeg Drumming Tattoo!

Welcome from the District Master Wor. Bro. Ian Small

As the Worshipful District Master, my first year as being such, it gives me great pleasure to welcome you all to the award winning village of Ahoghill, a village steeped in history and nestled amidst the picturesque landscapes here in the heart of County Antrim. Our village will be the host venue for what is known as the "Triangle" Twelfth where sixteen lodges will participate from our own District here in Ahoghill together with lodges from the Districts and neighbouring villages of Cullybackey and Portglenone. During the Plantation of Ulster in the 17th century, Ahoghill saw an influx of Scottish settlers, particularly Presbyterian Scots, who influenced the religious and cultural landscape of the area. So whether you're here to explore our ancient landmarks, have come to soak up the tranquil beauty of our countryside and its surroundings or to experience our vibrant community spirit in our annual Twelfth of July parade, we're delighted to have you. From the historic "Ford of the Yew Tree" to the huge array of floral displays for which the village has become internationally recognised, there's something for everyone to enjoy. So, take your time, savour the charm of Ahoghill and let us make your visit here on the Twelfth of July a memorable one. Welcome to our village!
